

Podcast outline

- 00:00 Introductions
- 4:25 Peter tell us where he first started learning about positive reinforcement animal training and some of the first animals he ever used it with
- 9:40 In this part of the podcast, we discuss Peter's current role as Animal Training Coordinator at Kolmarden Zoo in Sweden and also his website and Blog ZooSpensefull.
- 24:19: Here Peter talks about his involvement with IMATA (International Marine Animal Trainers Association). What it is, what benefits it offers its members and how you can get more involved.
- 27:13 "How animal training can save the world" is the title of one of Peter's Blog posts. Peter talks about this idea.
- 32:14 Here Peter shares some stories from his career so far and some of the important lessons he has learned along the way.
- 42:05 Peter talks about his vision moving forward and what he would like to see happen in the animal training world over the next 5-10 years.
- 43.23 Wrap up and conclusion